

copy/

25th September, 1950

MEMO RANDUM

I have this day visited the property of Mr A. G. Nicholls situated on the lower slope of Natone Hill, Lindisfarne. Mr Nicholls is desirous of obtaining underground water on this land.

Permian mudstones outcrop from the foreshore to the top of the hill and as these rocks are not aquifers there is no chance of obtaining water supplies from them. I have acquainted Mr. Nicholls with this fact.

Terence D. Hughes
GEOLOGIST

The Director of Mines,
Hobart.