

UNPUBLISHED REPORT 1968/21

A sand sample from King Island

by G. B. Everard

A sand sample from King Island has been examined and found to contain about 12.5 to 15% cassiterite. This occurs mainly in the middle grain size together with quartz, tourmaline, ilmenite and a little pyrite and zircon. The coarser grains are mainly quartz and rock fragments and the finer quartz and ilmenite.

[26 July 1968]