

5 cm

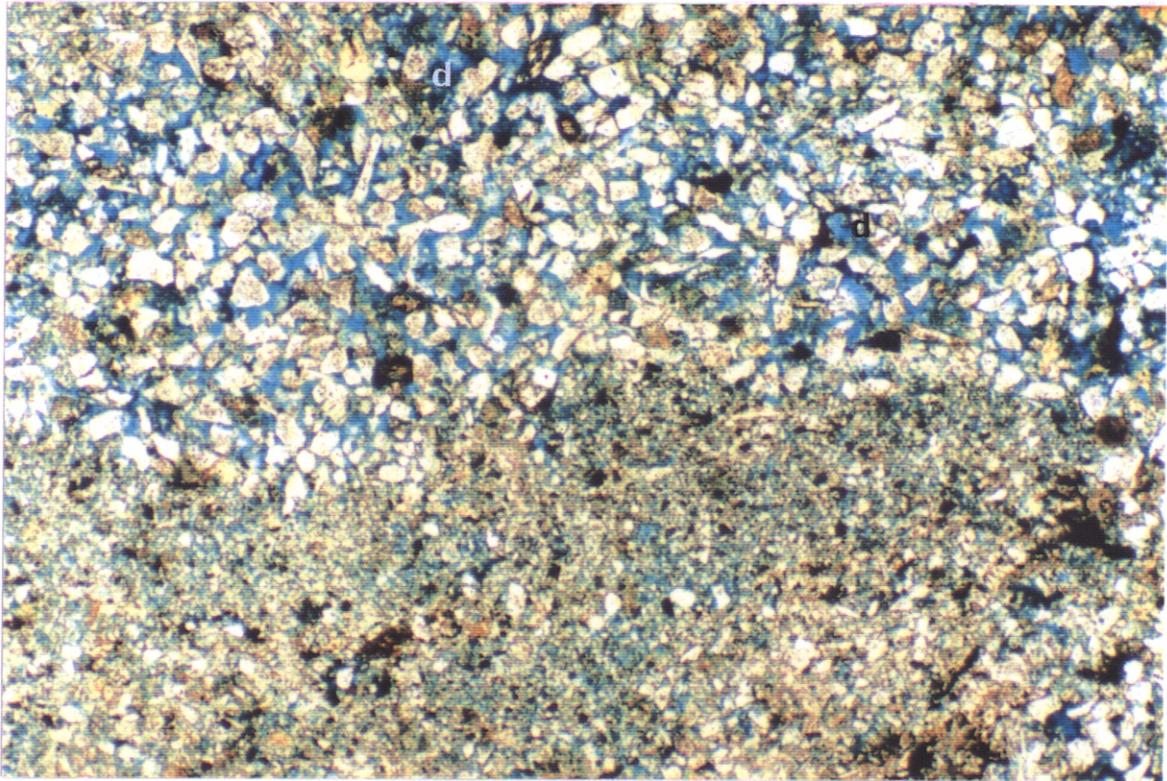

Figure 8.

General view showing differences in porosity (blue) between laminae of siltstone (bottom of photo) and very fine grained quartzarenite (upper part of photo). The quartzarenite has dominantly point contacts between grains and excellent intergranular porosity with minor dissolution (d) pores. King #1, Core plug 12, depth 1424.38m. Plane light. Field of view 2.72mm.