MINERAL RESOURCES TASMANIA

Re. Exploration Licence 8 / 1997

Dear Sir,

For my final report on the EL, I should like to offer the following information.

Field work carried out involved the location of suitable deposit outcrops, from each of these initial locations small samples were removed.

These samples were subjected to the normal processing requirements within the dimension stone industry, much of the material shows very good potential.

However the proposed markets for the stone have been severely eroded by foreign imports. It is now no longer viable to consider this material.

To me I am disappointed with the shift in market requirements would be an insult.

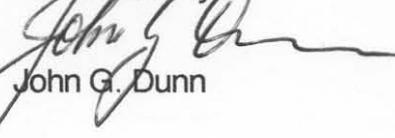

Rehabilitation work in the field is not required because of the nature of the exploration.

I have from time to time during the life of the EL supplied the department with information regarding the ongoing scope of operations.

I understand this report is minimal, however considering the amount of disturbance to the site, it is relevant.

If there is anything else I am able to assist with, please let me know.

Yours faithfully

John G. Dunn
