

020

have been previously drill tested only towards their southern extremities, where wide zones of base metal mineralization have been identified. Detailed geological mapping, soil geochemistry and/or deep electrical geophysics will be conducted over the northern extensions of these sequences prior to drill testing of targets.

o o O o o